INBOUND VISAS

→ SCHENGEN VISA

It is a visa for the length of stay of maximum 90 days.

→ LONG STAY VISA

It is a visa for the length of stay over 90 days. There are many types of long-stay visas and the difference is mostly in the purpose (reason) of stay. The most usual is family reunification, studies or business.

→ LONG TERM RESIDENCE

Most popular typ of stay permit is for those who plan to stay in the Czech Republic for more than 1 year or for those who are in the Czech Republic with Long-Stay Visa and want to prolong their stay.

→ WORK VISA

Employee Card, Blue Card, Employment permission released by the Labour Office etc.. It is the most common and also most important part of our visa agenda.

→ BLUE CARD

The Blue Card is another type of long-term residence permit in the Czech Republic, where the purpose of the stay is employment. In the case of blue card, a higher qualification (higher degree) is required and the employer must guarantee the applicant a wage corresponding to at least 1.5 of an average gross monthly wage in the Czech Republic. A foreigner with this type of residence permit is entitled to reside in the Czech Republic and at the same time work at the job position for which the blue card was issued. The vacancy must be reported to the Labor Office at the beginning of the process. The approval process itself usually takes 60 days from the submission of the application to the Embassy. The blue card is issued for a maximum of 2 years. It is possible to extend it.

→ PROGRAMS FOR ECONOMIC MIGRATION SUPPORT

(Key and Scientific Staff Program, Highly Qualified Employee Program and Qualified Employee Program)

These governmental programs facilitate the possibility of processing residence permits for foreign employees. The inclusion of the company in one of the governmental programs brings many benefits to employers and their future employees. At a time when the COVID pandemic has restricted the functioning of some embassies, participation in a governmental program is often the only way to apply for certain types of visas and work permits.

→ PERMANENT STAY

Foreigners, who settled down in the Czech Republic, plan to live here and fulfill all the lawful requirements are allowed to apply for permanent stay permit.

→ TEMPORARY STAY

It is a confirmation of stay for EU-citizens and their family members (can be also non-EU citizens). When a non-EU citizen gets temporary stay permit, by the Czech immigration law, this person is considered as EU citizen.
